An important Healthy Schools message from Essex
Child & Family Wellbeing Service

Subject: Oral Health
Date: June 2022
Issue: No. 34

Each month we create a bulletin promoting local or national health campaigns, featuring resources to promote best practice. This month we are focusing our campaign on Oral Health as June sees National Smile Month draw to a close.

We are hugely lucky to have our bulletin guest edited this month by Catherine Liu, HEE Clinical Leadership Fellow/ Community Dental Officer.

Our oral health is a crucial part of our overall wellbeing, and everybody deserves to have a healthy mouth. Although there have been many improvements in oral health over the past decades, there is still a long way to go: around one in four 5-year-old children in the UK have had dental decay, and tooth decay is still the number one reason for childhood hospital admissions for general anaesthesia.

Tooth decay and many other oral health problems are almost entirely preventable, which means that by helping children and adults to adopt some simple habits, we can prevent them from suffering from dental disease.

Some important oral health messages that we can all learn and share are:

1. Brush teeth for two minutes, last thing at night and one other time during the day, with a fluoride toothpaste.
2. Clean between your teeth every day.
3. Cut down how much and how often you have sugary foods and drinks.
4. Visit a dentist regularly.

You can also join in with National Smile Month in a variety of fun ways, to make even more of a difference to our communities' oral health. Here are just some examples of the fun ways in which you and your families can support the effort:

- Send a letter to the tooth fairy to tell her how you've been taking care of your teeth
- Take a smiley selfie and share it on social media
- Get crafty by making a smiley monster and entering it into our competition
- Join in with the Great British Brushathon
- And many more!

Find out more about all the ways you can get involved with National Smile Month here.

You can also have a look at the oral health resources on the ECFWS website, which have a range of videos and guides to help you look after your children's teeth.

Remember, prevention is better than the cure, so teaching healthy habits to our children will help ensure they grow up with healthy mouths and happy smiles!
